Recognizing Excellence

Every year, hundreds of companies participate in the SBIR program. Of those, some stand out as representative of the spirit and intent of the program. Each year the SBA recognizes those companies with the Tibbetts Award. Those firms that continue this excellence year after year are recognized with the SBIR Hall of Fame award.

SBIR Hall of Fame

Begun in 2011, the SBIR Hall of Fame Awards honor those small firms judged to exemplify notable lifetime achievement in innovation research and that have achieved extraordinary success as a result of the SBIR program.

Tibbetts Awards

Named after Roland Tibbetts, the acknowledged father of the SBIR program, the prestigious Tibbetts Awards recognize those individuals, organizations, firms or projects that made a visible technological impact on the socio-economic front and exemplify the very best in SBIR achievements. Award winners are selected based on the economic impact of their technological innovation, and the extent to which that innovation served federal R&D needs, encouraged diverse participation, and increased the commercialization of federal research.

The Awards are presented to companies that promote the mission and goals of the SBIR program:

- To stimulate technological innovation
- To use small business to meet federal research and development needs
- To encourage diverse participation in technological innovation
- To increase commercialization of federal research

Roland Tibbetts & SBIR
